

DELICATE STEVE

WONDERVISIONS

Northern New Jersey's Delicate Steve is the project of (Delicate) Steve Marion, guitarist, composer, and producer. Without words, Delicate Steve's songs are incredibly lyrical—each song a concise rock explosion driven by melody. Steve's guitar playing and tones have made a quiet revolution within New York's independent scene with members of Yeasayer, Dirty Projectors, TV on the Radio, Javelin, frequently in the audience. Despite the bold-face names in the audience, there is no pretensions in Wondervisions, the record is unabashedly joyous and immediately enjoyable. Listen now and you'll see.

Not many songs start like avant-garde tropicalia, bridge into overdriven electronics through Southern rock and still manage to sound coherent and great, but Delicate Steve manages it on their first single. - The Fader

When you first hear Delicate Steve's (aka Steve Marion) a few things pop into your head: Stevie Wonder, Dirty Projectors, RATATAT, Ponytail, Neutral Milk Hotel. Then you keep listening and find that thoughts of these other influences have melted away, and questions have taken their place: What is this music? What is the time signature in this song? Is that really a guitar? It has a sense of adventure, originality, and joyousness that makes you want to know: Where did this music come from? - Current TV

"Guitar tones from the bottom of the sea." - Bear In Heaven
